Term 4 info

On Monday we started the last term for the year and the last term for the year 6s. a lot of people, like we all do in 5/6 came late. if you missed what Mr Hill said our integrated topic is simple machines. people are already thinking up there inventions such as:

Cars,
Catapults,
and even a cannon.

the cannon project is called b.r.a.c. (bottle rocket artillery cannon, used for targets, not shooting people, ok!?) all of the models must incorporate at least one of the simple machines that we are working on.

And remember the photo shooting contest is still open.

Green Day VS The Hives

These two bands are both overly popular in grade 5/6 sjch and over the world, two different bands from two different countries. The two punk/garage/hard rock bands are both extremely famous and talented. Let's take a look at both bands.

Green Day

The hugely popular band Green who have released hits as "American Idiot", "Holiday", "Boulevard of Broken Dreams", "21 Guns", and many more. The band consists of the huge personality of Billy Joe Armstrong (Guitar, vocals), Mike Dirnt (Bass, vocals), and

Green Day

Tre Cool (Drums, Percussion).

Some of their albums are "American Idiot", "21st Century Breakdown" and many more.

Green Day has sold over 22 million records in the United States. They have won three Grammy Awards: Best Alternative Album for "Dookie", Best Rock Album for "American Idiot" and Record of the Year for "Boulevard of Broken Dreams".

The Hives

The Swedish rock band The Hives started getting attention in the early 2000's playing garage punk. Their first mainstream album was "Your New Favourite Band" which features their most well known song "Hate to Say I Told You So". Their albums consist of "Veni Vidi Vicious", "Your New Favourite Band", "Tyrannosaurus Hives" and "The Black and White Album". The members consist of Howlin' Pelle Almqvist (Lead Vocals), Nicholas Arson (Guitar), Vigilante Carlstroem (Guitar), Dr. Matt Destruction (Bass Guitar) and Chris Dangerous (Drums, Percussion). The Hives are also known for performing in never – changing black and white suits.

Gaming

Most boys in 5/6 like cars and gaming, put them together and what do you get? Dirt 2. In Dirt 2 you are placed in a rally car (for example, a Subaru Impreza or Mitsubishi Lancer) competing against some of the world's leading rally pros. That may sound very daunting but don't worry, the creators of Dirt 2, Codemasters, have put a skill level setting into the options panel. Your opponents will go to all the extent to crash into you and make you spin out to win and controlling the car for the first time is also hard, but again this can be adjusted in the options panel. The multiplayer mode works fine too and even more exciting, it's lag free! Overall Dirt 2 is a fabulous game that involves making plans, statistics and brute force. Therefore I'm giving Dirt 2 a 9/10.

Dirt 2, XBOX 360 and Playstation 3.

Sports

Two weeks ago the Geelong Cats beat St Kilda in thriller with a two goal win.

Starring with 3 goals, one of which won the match, and 26 touches, Paul earned himself the Norm Smith Medal. But Paul was just one of many I think could have won the Norm Smith Medal. All in all the game was good and go Cats.

Microsoft Bing

Recently, Microsoft released the latest shot at the seemingly invincible Google. Bing is the next generation of the epic failures named MSN search (launched in 1998) and Windows Live Search (launched in 2006).

Really, what all Microsoft has done is update the graphics and lame background pictures and convert Yahoo into using the Bing engine to power Yahoo search.

For all the negatives, Bing has some pretty good features for users of Microsoft MSN but anyway (APPLE FANBOY WARNING!!!!!!one!) the fact that it is a Microsoft product really scares me away, but anyway it is good for people who are getting sick of Google's many faults. PS: the results are almost the same from Google and Bing.
