

The 5/6 Times

ARTICLES NEEDED

Yep, once again we have very few people who can take the time to type a short article! So get typing.

Yep, we're back again and we have actually managed to make this thing a whole 2 pages, which is pretty amazing as I had to write the majority of it. I haven't got that much to say this week, but I would like to just shore up my point about needing more articles, 'cos without more articles THERE WILL BE NO 5/6 TIMES. So get typing.

007: Quantum of Solace

007: Quantum of Solace is one of the shortest full priced video games made for the Xbox 360. The story mode's plot is spread across the two most recent 007 movies, Casino Royale and Quantum of Solace.

While the smooshing of the two different stories is weird, it is great to be able to play your favorite scenes from both films. The story from the game follows very closely to the the films. It is a real shame that the game is so short as I really enjoyed it, especially the cover system. The cover system is really a joy to use. When you run up to any walls, crate or any other things you might want to hide behind, you have the option to press the A button to hide behind it. This is especially useful when you run into a room full of enemies wielding machine guns. One other thing I really like about this game is its multiplayer, with the combination of the cover system, great guns and great maps making an amazing combination.

The Lamborghini Reventón roadster

Here it is, the thing that all Lamborghini fans have been waiting for since the launch of the first one in 07. Say hi to my little friend the Reventón roadster.

The Roadster does 0 to 100 km/h in 3.4 seconds and onwards to a top speed of 330 km/h (205 mph). That's 7 mph slower than the hard top but remember it is a roadster so it's heavier.

The engine bonnet is virtually horizontal and a total of four windows made from glass provide a view of the mighty V12 in all its elegance.

The convertible Reventón is not only one of the fastest, but also one of the most exclusive cars in the world. Less than 20 Lamborghini Reventón roadsters will be made but there's not much chance of you buying one unless you're planning to spend all your money, because with a price tag of 2.7 million you'll need to be as rich as Ronaldo.

I suppose I like this car so much because it's fast, a convertible and looks like a work of art. The only drawback is the price.

Nikon D3000

One of the smallest digital SLR cameras ever made, the Nikon D3000 is the latest in Nikon's line of consumer DSLRs. The D3000 has introduced some great new features and kept the amazing price tag of the previous model, the D60. The price, around $700, is not the only thing the D3000 inherits from the D60, unfortunately Nikon has decided to continue to not put a focus motor into the body. This means that you can't auto-focus with older Nikon lenses. While the whole auto-focus thing is annoying, the price is so great it almost makes you forget this.
